IN A FRIENDLY SORT OF WAY.

When a man isn't a cent, and he's feelin' kind o' blue, An' the clouds hang dark an' heavy, An' won't let the sunshine through, It's a great thing, oh, my friends, for a feller just to lay His hand upon your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

It makes a man feel curious, It makes the tear drops start, An' you sort o' feel a flutter in the region of your heart: You can look up and meet his eyes, you don't know what to say, When his hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

Oh, the world's a curious compound, With its honey and its gall, With its joys and bitter crosses, But a good word will make him feel better, that's what I say, When a hand is on his shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A Fort Smith paper takes the following fling at the "breezy" Oklahoma girl:

"There goes a young lady from Oklahoma, and the fact is assured had I not seen her register just a moment ago," remarked a clerk at the hotel yesterday morning.

The young lady in question had approached the clerk's desk with a brisk business air of one who knew what she was doing and felt not at all lost at being a stranger in the city.

"You can tell them just as soon as they enter the hotel office," continued the clerk, "the Oklahoma girl asks no questions, that is the question and have the self-satisfaction air only resulting from the life of freedom they have lived in the new state."

The following concerning Mrs. Michael Conlin, one of the most prominent club workers of the state, will be of interest to many here where Mrs. Conlin has many friends and relatives. She says:

"Having been elected without opposition a member of the board of education of the town of Lindsay, it is only natural that I should say that I am in favor of women holding positions of district and city boards in this state. But I am honest in the opinion, and in expressing it I voice the sentiment of a large number of the members of the Indian Territory Federation of Women's Clubs."

"At the last meeting of the federation I was elected to represent it at the general federation meeting in Boston this summer. There a movement doubtless will be launched to demand that legislatures in states where there is no authority of law to warrant women holding directorships over public schools, 'erage' such laws."

Mrs. Conlin was the organizer of the first women's club formed in former Indian Territory. The meeting was held at her home in Atoka. In 1902 she was the only delegate from the Indian Territory to the biennial convention of the general federation held in Los Angeles. In 1903 she was elected first vice president of the Oklahoma-Indian Territory federation. That year she organized the Indian Territory federation and was elected president. She is at present honorary president of the Indian Territory federation.

Mrs. Conlin is of Indian extraction. Her father was James Gilbert, a Chickasaw, and her mother a Miss Folsom, a Choctaw. Both families are among the most prominent Indian families of the state.

Boston clubwomen are preparing to entertain 14,000 clubwomen at the General Federation meeting, June 22 to 29, and it will be the largest gathering of club women ever held. There will be a great many excursions to make the meeting a pleasant one. A trip down the harbor, one

A woman has certain rules in regard to her dress that it is hard to define, says a contemporary. She will wear a collar buttoned in the back, with a waist also buttoned in the back; if her waist buttons in front the collar must also fasten that way; but she can not forgive the offense of wearing a collar buttoned in front, with a waist buttoned in the back.
